Sonoran Desert Willow Estates

Park Care

Watering: When Winter rye grass is planted in early to mid-December, and the watering schedule is four (4) to five (5) times a day until the lawn is established. Then the watering schedule is three (3) times a day. When the weather gets close to freezing, we water twice a day. The first watering time is 10:00 a.m. or later. This will help keep the sidewalks from having ice on them. When the winter rye transitions to Bermuda, we water at night so the direct sunlight does not magnify through the water droplets and burn the grass.

Weed Control

Pre-emergence: Applied by end of June before the first Monsoon rains and sometime early December before the winter rains. Application will be spraying or granular.
